TO THIS BULLEY EXCEPTION WAS TAKEN by the defendants, and thereafter testimony on this point was limited to general reputation of the plaintiff in regard to chastity and good morias. The defendants urge that this ruling was erroneous. The general character of the plaintiff at the time the libel is published a deemed to be in base, for that is the foundation of his claim for damages. When a man of fair character has been attacked, the law will repair the damages. The defendant may show the general had character of the plaintiff, because he rulies upon its goodness before it has been culminated.

It is held in the case of Clark vs. Brown (116 Mass, 304), which was an action of siander, that the defendant may larvoduce ordence in miligation of damages, showing that the "milifs scenaria reputation is bad; and may slow show that his general requisition is had in two-ject to the charges made by the defendant's almong his following the standard of the plaintiff's general reputation is almong his following that the strength and with a view of showing that the sizes of showing the strength and with a view of

A MAN IN THE CASE.

The Cause of Hattie White's Suicide on Sunday.

THE STATEMENT OF THE LOVER.

Ecfused Marriage by Him, She Resorts Strychnine, and Ends a Check-ered Career.

An erring girl-a lover-a bottle of strve-

nia-a coffin-a grave.

Such were the principal points in the tragedy enacted in this city on Sunday last, and which were developed in an inquest held before Coroner Taylor and a jury yes-terday, at the old time two story house at 148 south West Temple street. The room being particular crime, when it should havebeen as to the actual moral character.

Headfarson, J.—I dissect.

Judge Powers, counsel for the pinintial, then moved that the judgment of the court below be affirmed, for the reason that there were but two of the judges at present on the bench who heard the arguments made, and one of these had dissented.

Judge Judg—We will hear you on that later.

Other Business.

The question of the right of the Hawalians to cathenship, which had been referred to the supreme court by Judge Sandford, was called up by Mr. Richards, but as there was no court roporter present to take the testions, the question went over until this morung.

She was subject to spasms, however, and I a thought but little about it. She then admitted that she had taken strychnine, and she begged me to save her, saying she did not want to die. We sent for Dr. Mc. Lean, and soon after he arrived he sent for Dr. Standart, but they could do nothing for her, and she died at about 7:30. I do not know anything about her parents or her other relations. She told me, however, that she was born and raised in this city. Hattle had not been in good health for some time. Hattle had been married to a man named Johnson, but had separated from him, and was now engaged to be married to a young man whose first name was treed, and young man whose first name was termed and the standard fred to a young man whose first name was to marry her when she came out. I have searched her trunks, but found nothing. I heard she had received a letter from Park City.

THE MESSENGER BOY'S STORY

THE MESSENGER BOY'S STORY.

Henry Wilson, a messenger in the employ of the district telegraph company, and known as "No. 3," said he had a call from the house at about 6 p. m. When he arrived the deceased answered to his knock and gave him 50 cents with which to buy strychnine, saying to him at the same time that she wanted it to kill mice. "I did not," he said, "tell the clerk at the drug store that I wanted it for mice, and he did not ask me any questions about it. I had frequently been on errands for her before that time."

WAS A WOMAN OF THE TOWN.

W. H. Wilson, sentified that he had known as "Tug" Wilson, testified that he had known deceased for about two years, and that she had at one time resided in a house kept by a Mrs. Knowlden. Once while he was taking Hattle and two other women to the springs in a had, she had pointed out to him the place where she was born—a coblide house on the hill north of McCornick's. She had been attrested once on the charge of living in a house of prestitution.

Annie Burnaides, between sobs and moans, said the decoased was an "houteast from 'er family," and had "lived at my eldest daughter's for a while before she married Johnson. She had been in correspondence with a young man named Fred, who lived at Park City. Lately, his letters to her have been sort of cold—she atways showed the letters to me—and she said to me, says she, "If he goes back on me! a shall go crany." I am sure that is the cause of her rash act. Her uncle, William White, works at the Sait Lake brevery, but he has refused to come and see her, saying he knew her no longer." THE MYSTERIOUS PRED PLEET.

THE DECEASED'S LAST REQUEST THE DECLASHIP'S LAST REQUEST.

Mrs. Steele further testified in answer to the questions of Juror Showell: Fleet was here when she was taken ill. He seemed to feel very badly about it, and asked if there was any poison in the house. I told him there, was none, except some chioral, and I knew she had not taken that. We found this letter on the table, where she said she had left it:

Mas. O'NEILL Dear friend-Dear friend—
You have always, been a friend to me in life and new i want you to do me a favor when you find what I have done. You will proudine me that you will not tell anyone of my folk. Don't let them know. They will not care. So lay me away quietly; don't go to any expence. Fred will stand all. I want my ring that the gave me and my pin. Lay me away in my blue wrapper. in her room when she was first taken sick, and when she called for Mrs. Steele. I was sitting in the room when she wrote the note which has been read here. That was the note, I suppose, that she said she was roing to send to a young lady, and which I supposed she was going to send to the young lidy. The note was laid under a stand on a table in this room. I never heart her mention her parents, but she told me she was born in this city. THE VEHICL.

This closed the evidence, and the —William Showell, William McQuee S. E. Underhill—readered a vertice effect that from the evicence before the doceased came to her death froe effects of poison, self-administered.

The Walker, Iowa, News says: "Our old friend, Robert Baird, of Muscaline, Iowa, has been secretary of the state senate, and an active politician for years, but was never generally known until be had the colic, and used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and plarrhoes Remedy, and got into one of their advertisements. 'Now he is famous.'" Here is what Mr. Baird said: "While in Des Moines, I was taken with a severe attack of bowel complaint. For two days I suffered intensely, trying several drug stores and paying them for relief, but in vain. I finally bought a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Dharrhoes Remedy, and two doses of that brought use out all right. It costs less than the drug store oreparations and I have the balance for future use. I consider it a grandremedy." Twenty-five and 30 cont bottles for sale by Z. C. M. I, drug department.
